

Introducing our Talent Database

We are excited to announce our Talent Database, a resource connecting skilled individuals with volunteer, internship, and job opportunities in Orthodox Christian organizations across the United States. Whatever your skills -- technical, creative, executive, administrative, or otherwise -- this database helps us match your unique abilities with roles that advance the mission of Orthodoxy. Click the link below to fill out the form!

Talent Form

Spring Courses

Antioch: A Bridge between Worlds

Join OSI and Dr. Samuel Noble this May for a course on the history of Orthodox Christianity in the Patriarchate of Antioch. For more information and to register, click the link below.

Learn more

Orthodoxy in the Isles

There is one more live session for Fr. Jacob Siemens' fascinating class on Orthodoxy in the Isles. All sessions are recorded and posted on the course platform so catch up and join us live next Tuesday!

For more information and to register, click the link below.

Learn more

Check out Saint Constantine College President, Dr. John Mark Reynolds, on the Re-Enchanting podcast with Justin Brierley and Belle Tindall. They discuss the Eastern Orthodox Revival and OSI's Convert Study.

Historical mystery solved

A brief, tantalizing mention of a Civil War veteran's conversion to Orthodoxy in an undated essay. A post on social media asking for help. Read about how our Orthodox History community solved a nearly 125 year old mystery involving two saints!

Read it here

Parents of Saints

"Saints come from many backgrounds. Sanctity is not reserved for the children of kings or those with easy backgrounds. Holiness is the one life aspiration open to all." - Dr. John Mark Reynolds

We are wrapping up our Parents of Saints series on the On Orthodox Education blog. Read the latest entry about the parents of St. Silouan the Athonite at the link below.

Read it here

Saint Constantine College and OSI were honored to host OSI Senior Fellow Terry Mattingly on campus this week. Mr. Mattingly is a journalist, teacher, and the former leader of the Washington Journalism Center's program for the Council For Christian Colleges and Universities. He has written the nationally syndicated "On Religion" column since 1988. He also has a Substack project called "Rational Sheep" where he writes about mass-media culture, with an emphasis on the church and the family in the age of "screen culture."

Rational Sheep

Want to learn more about Saint Constantine College?

Find out more at the link below!

Saint Constantine College

Support Orthodox Christian Research & Education

Orthodox Studies Institute

DONATE NOW

WWW.ORTHODOXSTUDIES.ORG/SUPPORT

Donate

