

“He Who attains Love Cannot Fall.”

St. Makarios the Great

Saint Catherine’s Vision seeks your assistance to help us prayerfully cultivate a collaborative discipline of study, discourse, witness and congruent philanthropic action in humble service of Divine Compassion or eleos.

We desire to foster this disciplined, working style as a way to bear witness to the Orthodox understanding of conciliarity—koinonia.

Through prayer, study, education, publications, Pan-Orthodox fellowship and connecting, we seek to become trustworthy partners in facilitating new and/or enhance already established avenues of communication among diverse persons serving within the life of the Church today.

We are committed to this work, so that personally and collectively, as sisters and brothers, we may continuously discover the Life-giving Divine Compassion, eleos, in the presence of the loving God, Thrice-Holy.

How is SCV funded?

SCV is funded primarily through private donations. This fledgling organization seeks friends and partners who will accompany us on our journey. We believe SCV has something special to offer the Church and society. Please consider financially supporting SCV as we humbly ask you to pray for us and our work.

What is SCV?

Saint Catherine's Vision is founded in a discipline of prayer, conciliarity and study, with roots reaching to the early 1980's. It is a Pan-Orthodox Christian organization endorsed by the Assembly of Canonical Orthodox Bishops of the United States of America engaging concerns of the contemporary Church.

We strive to build our efforts on a spiritual foundation, working collaboratively. We believe that it takes a disciplined village with humility to bear witness and share God's restorative and transfiguring eleos, loosely translated as Divine Compassion or Mercy, to His people and creation.

Our Mission is Unity, Spiritual Renewal and Education

Saint Catherine's Vision is a fellowship of Orthodox Christians, whose purpose is:

- To develop and implement initiatives especially supporting women's ministries in the Orthodox Church through prayer, fundraising, education, research, training, mentoring, and other related programming related to theology and ministry.

- To promote spiritually and theologically sound approaches that facilitate the education, witness and service of men and women in a manner which fully supports the participation of women.
- Central to the commitment of the organization is the practical expression of Orthodox theology and ministry "for the building up of the body of Christ" (Ephesians 4:12) which is His Church and share the light of Christ in today's world.

What are SCV's Accomplishments?

In recent years, we have been blessed with opportunities which include writing books, developing retreats for women theologians and Orthodox parishes, initiating book discussion groups, facilitating events, offering presentations and consulting with leaders across North America on issues that affect the laity, especially women.
